  Prototyping Your Life

  Virtual Event

  What does it mean to prototype in your life? In design, we can prototype products and services, and in our lives we can prototype conversations and experiences to test how we might react in our future. In this webinar, Gabrielle Santa-Donato EdM ’12 will explore how you can leverage your curiosity and the lived experiences of others to help sneak up on your future. She will specifically talk about the power of informational and inspirational interviewing and networking. Join us to start taking action in exploring your future vocations and avocations.
